Name Model

Inquiry Question/Path Do food access, consumption, and production shape human social behavior?

REF.	DETAILS	COMMENTS
Source # and location in the source:	I record details, ideas, or information that I find in my sources that help me answer my inquiry questions:	I explain the reason why I think they are important, and write personal comments:
Source	Effectively addressing under-nutrition	Nourishing the world is not a unilateral
#2	requires a multidisciplinary approach	or one-dimensional concern. It
P3	with commitments from agricultural, health, water and sanitation, education,	requires human resources and expertise from various sectors of
	and social protection sectors.	society.
P5
	र्वे of the world's poorest people subsist	By increasing small farm productivity, local governments can sustainably
	small plots of farmland. Increasing productivity and profitability for these	improve the nutrition of their citizenry.
P7	people is a straightforward solution.
	Pro-agricultural policies reduce malnutrition and keep food prices low.	What is a "pro-agriculture policy?"
P10-11	Yet, in countries like India, where	Food production is not the key agriculture is booming both in terms of food production and economic benefit, hundreds of millions of people still go under nourished. This is due to a lack of access to the food.	ingredient to solving this problem.  What are the other factors?
Source	The global demand for meat will likely	We cannot feed the humans who need
#4 P1	double by 2020.	to eat, so how will we feed the animals that we want to eat?
P8	Defenders of animal production say it is in response to the increasing need of the	The author points out that we lose most of the food energy we put into
-	growing population.	making meat. This seems inconsistent with the idea of feeding the world.

