Odell Education Texas High School Literacy Program Remote Learning Guide

The Odell Education Texas High School Literacy Program Remote Learning Guide is designed to support educators as they adapt Odell Education lessons to remote- or virtual-learning contexts. The goal is to continue to foster and enhance classroom community and collaboration in a virtual environment. Within this guide, educators will find instructional activities and strategies that are frequently used in the Texas High School Literacy Program, with suggested modifications for asynchronous and synchronous learning within a remote or virtual context.

The Remote Learning Guide Contents

Supportive Remote Learning Background Information

- Establishing a remote classroom culture
- Considerations for monitoring student learning
- Common remote learning terminology
- General technology solutions that facilitate virtual instruction

Remote Learning Instruction Considerations

- Instructional considerations for remote learning that are organized around teaching strategies commonly used across the Odell Education Texas High School Literacy Program, including:

  - Annotating Texts
  - Collaborative Work and Discussions
  - Odell Education Tools
  - Reading
  - Videos and Movies
  - Vocabulary
  - Writing Workshop

Asynchronous and Synchronous Guidance

- Specific guidance and suggestions for using each instructional approach in asynchronous and synchronous environments.

ODELL TEXAS HIGH SCHOOL LITERACY PROGRAM